

To Whom it may concern,

I am totally for the bill to regulate the sale of Domestic Cats and Dogs in the State of Connecticut. We currently have an epidemic of killing innocent domesticated cats and dogs, who can not find homes in a very short given time. It is horrendous how these living breathing animals are treated, over bred and then killed systematically. A measure of a society is how they treat their animals and we are not doing too well on that score. Animals are not furniture to be discarded when no longer wanted or replaced for a newer one when one reaches an older age. I strongly urge the passage of this bill to stop the sale of dogs and cats from puppy mills or back yard breeder, let's start selling shelter pets like California so we can reduce the instance of killing puppies and healthy animals.

Sincerely,

Catherine A. DeTullio-Edman
